14 Gorgeous Singapore Boutique Hotels

Staying at boutique hotels is the in-thing now and if you're a major klutz like me, you probably didn't know gorgeous boutique hotels actually exist right here in Singapore. Heck, not too long ago, I didn't even know what boutique hotels were.

To put it simply, boutique hotels typically have about under 50 rooms with trimmed down facilities with rooms that come in unique designs and gorgeous themes. The next time you travel, you may want to skip the 5 star hotels and just try something different by staying at a boutique hotel.

With most boutique hotels priced in the $200+ range, your wallet is going to love you and so will your partner when you surprise him or her with a lovely staycation. And lucky for us locals, room prices are always cheaper on weekends!

1. Hotel Vagabond

Walk into Hotel Vagabond, and immediately feel like royalty. With an abundance of red plushy couches, and an extensive collection of art - which includes a huge golden elephant - the hotel lobby is the epitome of luxury. After all, this is Singapore's first art-driven 5-star boutique hotel.

In addition to the eye-catching decor, the personal touch of the owners and the staff is a breath of fresh air. Return to your room to find handwritten notes of well-wishes on the table! Friendly Lady Boss Ms Harpreet Bedi is known to turn up and personally chat with guests over meals at the in-house restaurant.

Whether you're looking to chill with drinks at 11am or 11pm – hush, nobody's judging – the plush, Parisian-inspired Executive Club Lounge has you covered. Offering a wide range of eats from breakfast in the morning to wines and cheeses in the evening, I could spend a whole day here surrounded by the decadent interior and gold fittings. Of course, the all-day free wifi is very welcome too!

Starting November, Hotel Vagabond will play host to a wide range of live musicians for 3 days a week. Expect an eclectic mix of local and visiting artists, ranging from jazz quartets to indie rockers.
